Today is the one time when women are allowed to walk up to the polls and cast a ballot.

Phoenix is managing to keep pretty well in the public eye in spite of the adjournment of the legislature.

It is now a penitentiary offense to gamble in Texas and a jail offense to play whist for a prize. Great is Texas.

They are sending cornmeal from this country to the Chinese famine sufferers. What they want over there is rice—not cornmeal.

The commission in lunacy wants nothing to do with alienist reports. It is trying to decide whether or not Harry Thaw is crazy.

The City of Globe has won another fall from the incorporation busters, who might as well drop the busting proceedings and save their money for the Fourth of July.

The state of New York and the estate of Thaw would have been much good money ahead if the trial of Harry Thaw would have started with the appointment of a lunacy commission.

How unreasonable some of the working class are getting! To think of a lot of men, who have access to vats upon vats of the cool, sparkling amber fluid, quitting their delightful work, all because of a little matter of mere money! And the hot weather just coming on, too!

Voters, male and female, should not forget to vote at the school election today. Globe needs a high school and both of the candidates for school trustee have pledged themselves to the obtaining of one, so that there is not much choice as to the candidates. Cast a vote anyhow.

The strike of brewery workers in St. Louis may not affect the stock market, but it is nevertheless very serious. If it is not settled soon the country will certainly face a beer famine. While it is not our purpose to needlessly alarm the people, it is no more than right that the attention of all be called to the awful consequences of such a disastrous occurrence.

WHO DID IT?

Mr. Fish says that Mr. Roosevelt is no more responsible than St. Paul's steeple for what has been happening on the stock exchange. There are others who think that the railways are responsible, and some prefer to place the blame upon persons who have abused fiduciary positions. This is more or less like an ante-mortem wake, for it is doubtful that prosperity is dead, or even that it has received a mortal blow. However that may be, it is well to recognize betimes that the question who killed prosperity is about as interesting as who killed Cock Robin. It makes no difference whether or not Mr. Roosevelt did it, or whether or not it was worth doing at the price, he has the responsibility which Mr. Bryan so grudges him simply because he is president.

The only thing worth rescuing out of the difference of opinion regarding the responsibility is the inference regarding the public opinion upon the principles involved. When the responsibility is sought to be shuffled off, there is more or less indication of perception that public opinion is altering under stress of circumstances. Mr. Bryan put the point plainly the other day, thus:

"The farmers have had good crops, and because of the increased quantities of money they have had better prices. The workmen seem to be busy, and how could a panic come with the protective tariff still in force, if the Republican arguments are to be credited? We are told that panics come only under Democratic administration. Either the predictions of panic are wrong or Republican arguments have been faulty."

Nothing of course could alter the Republican position upon the tariff, but if we were really to have a panic, what would be the effect upon the railroad crusade? Is it possible that anybody would say that, with all their faults, they preferred the railways' methods to the reformers'?

MUNICIPAL BONDS

Small Demand for City Stocks May Lead to Popular Loans

It is becoming impossible to sell municipal bonds. Yesterday Philadelphia failed to dispose of an offering of $5,000,000 3½ per cent thirty-year bonds, and St. Louis, which offered $3,000,000 at a slightly better figure, 3.65 per cent, also failed to attract suitable bids. Incidentally, New York 4 per cent bonds have broken to below par—to as low as 99—while short-term notes have also declined to new low levels. All this follows in the wake of last week's stock market panic, which carried standard stocks down to, in some cases, a 7 per cent basis. Not for years has a similar state of affairs existed. Naturally there is little or no demand for miscellaneous bonds.

When Mayor Weaver yesterday proceeded to open proposals for $5,000,000 thirty-year various improvement bonds of Philadelphia, interest on which was not to exceed 3½ per cent par, payable semi-annually, he found that only one bid had been sent in, for $125,000 at par, from George H. Hill of the bond department of Drexel & Co. Mr. Hill stated that he did not represent Drexel & Co. in making the bid. Mayor Weaver had had assurances before the stock market break that he would have several tenders for the entire offering. The loan may be offered at popular subscription. Baltimore recently sold $800,000 of 3½ per cent stock on a 3.62 basis at a popular sale.

The experience of St. Louis was little less unfortunate. City Comptroller Player announced that the attempt of the city to sell $3,000,000 3.65 per cent semi-annual twenty-year various improvement bonds had failed. When the proposals for the bonds were opened it was found that the bids were too low. Mr. Player stated that bankers evidently were holding out for 4 per cent bonds, but that the city would not sell securities at that figure. The bonds may be sold privately.

New York bonds have likewise suffered from the decline in stocks, the New York City 4 per cent bonds having declined to below par. During the past week the 4s of 1936 were quoted at 99½ to 99¾, and large blocks of the 1936 maturities were offered at 99. In three months these two bonds show respective declines of 2½ and 2¾ points. It is not, therefore, surprising that the comptroller's department is trying to get legislation at this session which will permit the city to sell its bonds below par.—New York Journal of Commerce.

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

He Paid All He Owed

In a recent King's Bench action the plaintiff had stated that his financial position was always satisfactory. In cross examination he was asked if he had ever been bankrupt.

"No," was the answer. "Now, be careful; did you ever stop payment?"

"Yes," was the reply. "Ah!" exclaimed the counsel, "I thought we should get at it at last. When did that happen?"

"After I had paid all I owed," was the answer.—Teller.

Birds Evolved from Reptiles

It may be a shock to some persons to learn that the birds of the present day are descendants of reptiles. This fact has been conclusively proved by the fossil remains of creatures that form the intermediate stages between the birds of today and the reptiles of prehistoric ages. In fact, many of the birds have not yet completed their evolution, as in the case of the penguin, whose wings are merely rudimentary, absolutely inadequate for flying purposes and useful only as a means of propelling these awkward creatures through the water.
